VOLUME XX—NO. 108

CHARLEROI, WASHINGTON COUNTY, PENNSYLVANIA, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1919

TWO CENTS

CAMPAIGN COSTS MILLER OVER THIRTEEN THOUSAND DOLLARS

Dissemination of Information and Watchers Cost Large Sum

SOME GIVEN LARGE AMOUNTS

It cost Charles Miller of Beallsville $13,647.25 to conduct his campaign for Sheriff at the primaries on the 16th of September, according to the statement he filed on Thursday with the Clerk of Courts at Washington. The largest single item in the statement is for the "dissemination of information," sums ranging from $25 to $5,250 having been paid out to individuals under this heading.

The $5,250, the statement says, was paid to Alvin Donnan, treasurer; C. E. Carothers was paid $500 and $500 was paid to Harry Cox and others, managers of the campaign of James P. Castner of Donora, candidate for county treasurer. The last item under the heading of dissemination of information is for $2,750 paid to "divers persons" but no names are given nor any receipts filed as required by the corrupt practices act, for all sums over $10.

Prices for watchers varied, ranging from $5 to $50, evidently according to the influence, evidently of the party receiving the money. His advertising and printing cost him $1,400 and the remainder went for traveling expenses, clerk hire, etc. No mention is made of the contribution of money to the campaign expenses of other candidates, except the $100 given to J. Elmer Johnston. Nothing is said of any money alleged to have been contributed to the expenses of R. G. Lutton, John Aiken or Erwin Cummins, who received a total of $5,750 to help along with their campaign, though the $5,250 given Mr. Donnan, the $500 to Mr. Carothers and the $100 to Mr. Johnston total that amount.

Mr. Miller gives a long list of those to whom he paid money to act as watchers, and in this phase of the campaign he appeared to be very liberal. The statement is being read with the greatest interest, although in a measure it adds a little more confusion to the situation as it now exists.

PICKETS REPORTED AT LOWER END OF TOWN

It is reported that pickets were stationed at the lower end of town, and that at least one man, a government employe, was stopped while on his way to work. Whether any mill men were stopped was not stated. Burgess Woodward has issued a proclamation against anything of this kind and it is presumed he will have the police at that point tomorrow to see that no one is molested within the borough limits.

Race rioting knows no geographical lines, as Washington, Chicago and Omaha have recently borne witness.

SUES CONSTABLE FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

Oscar Allshouse and Mary Allshouse have filed suit against Constable George Stabile in which $5,000 damages are claimed for alleged unlawful levy and restraint of goods and the sale of the same. The defendant was acting as agent for John Moffitt and as such made a levy for rent alleged due. It is averred that no rent was due and that acting against the protests of the plaintiff and claims of exemptions the goods were sold, causing the plaintiffs serious loss and damage.

MORE PUSH TO CAMPAIGN

Will Extend It Into Next Week to Secure District Quota

OVER $3,000 HAS BEEN RAISED

A meeting of the campaign committee in charge of the Jewish Relief Fund was held at the borough building last evening at which time a number of addresses were made, including a statement from John D. Berryman, area chairman. It was learned that many of the original pledges had been doubled, and confidence was expressed that the Charleroi area would meet the quota assigned of $10,200.

Already over $3,000 has been collected, the women's committee having reported collections of $570.00. This with over $2,500 contributed by Jewish citizens makes the amount over the three thousand mark. As the area to be covered has been found to be very extensive it is likely that the campaign will be extended into next week, that every one in the borough may be interviewed with a view of making a contribution.

The speakers who have been appearing in the theatres each evening are scheduled to appear in the various mills of the borough today, where the needs of the Jewish people will be presented in a forcible manner.

A meeting of the campaign committee was held at the borough building this morning at which time additional plans were formulated for pushing the campaign with greater vigor from now until the close of the canvass. The work has been going somewhat slowly during the week, owing to unfavorable weather, but the women who are looking after the homes expect to cover the borough thoroughly in their canvass and hope for most generous returns.

MAKES ANSWER ON MILK QUESTION

Long Hours, and High Cost of Feed and Repairs Are Big Factors in Milk Production

CLAIMS OTHER ARTICLES ARE SKY-HIGH IN PRICE

To the Editor:

In regard to the milk question, I do not know where the writer received all his information in regard to the price of milk in other towns, but I do know people who have paid 9 cents a pint for milk in Belle Vernon since the 1st of August. A lady visiting in Charleroi this summer came to my wagon for a pint of milk. I asked her what she was paying for milk in Pittsburgh and she told me 9 cents a pint. I also know people in Pittsburgh that are paying 10 cents a pint for milk at the present time.

You did not say anything about butter advancing seven cents per pound in one week and shoes and clothing soaring high. You did not say anything about horseshoeing and wagon repairs being high and cows selling anywhere from $120.00 to $150.00 and dairy feeds from $75.00 to $79.00 per ton.

Labor is so high the dairymen cannot afford to hire very much help, so they are compelled to work from 12 to 18 hours per day to get through including all holidays, as well as Sundays, carrying milk over town and other people sitting on their porches reading the papers.

If it is so much of a profiteering game, I don't see why so many are quitting. One retailer has just quit, another has sold out, another is going to quit, and still another has bought out, if anybody wants to go into business. Early in the morning and late at night through all kinds of weather and lots of expense is our experience. A DEALER

We are glad to receive this communication and we are glad to print it. It shows that the dairymen who are supplying Charleroi with milk have given attention to what has been said on this very important question.

In order to set at rest the mind of our correspondent as to the source of our information, we will say that it was received from the consumers in most cases, and by published advertisements in the papers in others. We believe that the dealers will accept both of these sources as being altogether trustworthy.

We admit that we did not say anything about the price of butter advancing seven cents per pound in one week, for we are not on the butter question at this time, but what could be expected in the way of advanced figures for this commodity with milk going to 18 cents a quart. Moreover it is a farm and dairy product and the people must pay whatever price is asked.

We were not talking about the price of shoes, which we realize are very high at the present time, but does our correspondent realize that shoes come from leather and that leather comes from hides taken from cattle raised on the farms?

We were not talking about the price of clothes, which are likewise

RUMOR SAVS PITTSBURGH STEEL WILL ADOPT NEW HOUSING POLICY

ELOPE TO WELLSBURG AND WERE MARRIED

Miss Jennie Boyd and Wayne Mickelson both of Monessen, motored to Wellsburg, W. Va., and were married on Monday, returning home Wednesday evening. For the present they are at the home of the bride's parents, but next week expect to go to housekeeping in Monessen. Mr. Mickelson is employed at the Majestic theatre as an operator.

All of the Charleroi banks will observe Monday next, which is Columbus Day, as a legal holiday.

QUIETNESS PREVAILS

Donora Had Day of Disturbances on Thursday

CONDITIONS DIFFERENT TODAY

Conditions in Monessen were unusually quiet this morning and not a single arrest was made Thursday night. An additional number of men are reported as returning to the mills, and the Pittsburgh Steel company plant appears to be assuming its normal condition.

In Donora there was some disturbance reported last evening when strikers stoned the home of a man who had returned to work. About 35 strikers held up four men returning from the mill at the end of the Webster bridge last evening among them being Councilman Wm. Morgan. The workmen promptly showed fight and defended themselves with such vigor that in a few minutes they had their assailants on the run.

An attempt was made last night to burn the home of Steve Kovocky at 638 Sixth street. Kovocky had returned to work and it is said threats had been made that his home would be destroyed. The fire was discovered about midnight and soon put out.

Marie Steele, an employe of the wire works office, while passing along McKean avenue, was struck by one of a group of four men and knocked down. When she got up she ran into Ridgley's garage and telephoned for the State Police. The assailants however had climbed into an automobile and escaped before the police arrived. The incident caused the Burgess and State Police to make more drastic provisions and it was announced that any interference with men returning to the mills, armed him and then sent him to jail will meet with a trip to jail. A Today Donora is very quiet and strikers attempting to congregate is allowed on any Sheriff George Hornbake last night of the streets.

To Insist on Workmen Living in Homes Near Their Work

NOW MAKING INVESTIGATION

A persistent rumor, which appears to have some foundation in fact, says that the Pittsburgh Steel Company, as well as the other industries located in Monessen, will undertake a movement at once for the purpose of housing all of their employes on the other side of the river.

The report says that the Pittsburgh Steel Company is already looking for a tract of land upon which it can erect suitable dwelling houses, and upon their completion insist that all employes from outside Monessen brough move in and occupy them. The informant said the same policy would be followed by the other industries in the town, and when the plans have been formulated and completed it would result in all of the employes being residents of Monessen or immediately adjacent thereto.

This move on the part of these industries is said to have been caused by the fact that employes of the Pittsburgh Steel and the Steel Products companies who live in Charleroi and North Charleroi have not been given the same protection as workmen living in Monessen, and to the further fact that meetings are permitted to be held in Charleroi by the striking steel workers, which are generally followed by more or less disorder and considerable trouble in keeping the mill forces in line. It is said the same feeling with respect to employes prevails in Donora and that it will be the policy of the steel companies there to have all of their men housed in that town.

Should this plan prevail it would mean that at least two thousand men who live in Charleroi and North Charleroi would have to move to the other side of the river if they wished to hold their jobs in the mills there. Such an exodus would be an awful blow to the prestige of Charleroi and one which would take years to overcome. However it is said the mill owners are looking after the welfare of their industries as well as the safety of the men who wish to work, and are of the opinion that this end can best be accomplished by having their workmen living in or adjacent to the town in which the mills are located.

Will appreciate any information as to the whereabouts of my brother Frank Metz, 26 years old, 5' 1-2" tall, dark hair, wore dark green suit with cap of mixed cloth. Last seen Monday about noon at Weaver. Notify Peter Metz, Weaver, Pa., P. O. Bentleyville. 108-12

MORE THAN MERE SAVAGERY.
Ann-negro mobs in the Middle West, enraged by a negro's attack on a white woman, have burned down public buildings before in their effort to secure or force the surrender of their prey. The only unexpected feature in the Omaha case was the mob-fury directed against the Mayor of the city. This has been accounted for by both dispatch writers and editorial writers on the ground that the Mayor caused exasperation by his efforts to uphold the law. Such is the explanation given in the following account, typical of many others:
"While the mob does not meet with the approval of business and professional men of the city, it undoubtedly met with the approval of the average working man as well as clerks, stenographers, and people of those classes. These, constituting by far the majority, are not only not ashamed, but are actually pleased at the work of the mob last night. They are proud that Omaha lynched a negro, burned his body, wrecked a million-dollar Court House and jail, burned thousands of valuable records and struck the Mayor of the city up to a trolley pole because he refused to order the police to throw the negro into the hands of thousands who were clamoring for his blood."
Such an explanation of the barbarous treatment of the Mayor of Omaha can hardly be regarded as sufficient. The reflecting reader was inclined to think that there must have been something more definite and personal at the bottom of so startling an outrage, and in a long Omaha dispatch of September 29 what was previously lacking was supplied by the following brief statement: "The Mayor's law firm is at present defending two negroes charged with assaults on white women. The police assert that that fact had much to do with some of the remarks that were made by members of the mob who had a hand in the attempt against his life." Thus is furnished the needed explanation of the mob's extraordinary rage against the Mayor, he being manifestly suspected of a disposition to deal leniently with negro rapists the courts can do much to forestall such hideous scenes as have recently been witnessed in the chief city of Nebraska.

'SQUIRE CULBERTSON ATTENDS REUNION
Squire Lafayette Culbertson of North Charleroi attended the annual reunion of Company D, 79th Pennsylvania Volunteers, held in Monongahela on Wednesday, October 8th. This Company of Civil War veterans or the survivors thereof, have held their reunions for years on the 8th of October, which commemorates the anniversary of the battle of Perryville, Ky., fought Oct. 8, 1862. There were only eight of the veterans in attendance, the sole survivors of that splendid Company of men which left Monongahela in 1861 under command of Capt. McBride. By orders from the war department the Company was attached to the 79th Pennsylvania Volunteers, a Lancaster county regiment commanded by Col. Ham-bright and while the regiment holds its annual reunions in the eastern end of the State, Company D survivors gather in the town from which they departed over 58 years ago to renew the friendships made while serving in the Union army. The meeting at Monongahela consisted of a business session and a dinner at the Hotel Glasgow.

MEDICAL INSPECTION IS NOW UNDER WAY
Medical inspection of the pupils of the schools of Charleroi began Thursday morning, Dr. Enos taking up the duties at the Second street school and Dr. Reppman at the Junior High. Dr. Hunter is arranging to begin inspections at the Ninth street school next Monday, while Dr. McKay at Dr. Vieslet expect to begin shortly at the Fifth street and Crest avenue schools respectively. It is the desire of the physicians and the school authorities to complete this inspection during the good weather and while health conditions are normal.

MASS MEETING OF SERVICE MEN
A mass meeting of service men is to be held in the Anton theatre, Monongahela, on Sunday afternoon next. The assembly to be under the auspices of the Monongahela Post of the American Legion Col. Martin of Waynesburg, Col. Joe Thompson of Beaver, and Lieut. Rodgers Ross of New Brighton will be the speakers. While the meeting is under the auspices of the service men, friends of the soldiers are also invited to be present.

MONESSEN MEETS UNIONTOWN HIGH

Ample accommodation will be provided at Fairhope to park at least 200 automobiles, while special street car service will carry all who desire to attend the game. The reason the game is not held in Monessen is because of the prohibition of all assemblages in the borough limit at the present time.

NEW ERA PAGEANT DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

"The Kings Messengers," an organization of the Woman's Missionary Society at the Washington Avenue Presbyterian church held open house Thursday evening and gave a program that was thoroughly enjoyed by the large audience present. The program was in charge of Miss M. L. Smith, the president of the organization and the music was in charge of Mrs. C. Ford R. Bessie. Mrs. L. V. Kinder had charge of the singing and the Sunday school class presented an attractive appearance in the gorgeous autumn colors. The New Era pageant presented America as the leader in the great world movements for righteousness. Almost all of the 62 members of the society had a part in the pageant. At one place in the program all the lights were put out and at a given signal candle lights began to appear all over the platform, until the platform was a blaze of light. Three members were graduated into the Westminster Guild. Misses Irene Manon, Eleanor Baker and Olive Parks. Mrs. Pfeiffer had the President of the Woman's Missionary Society, spoke feelingly of the graduating exercises and paid a high compliment to the good work done by the Messengers. The closing exercise was a pantomime of the hymn, "My Faith Looks up to Thee," by twelve young ladies. Many compliments were heard regarding the accurate execution. Miss Emma Clatter and Miss Blanche Allison contributed vocal solos, while Miss Olive McKay gave a piano solo. The costumes of the performers added much to the effectiveness of the program. This, together with the lighting effect made each number a picture complete in itself.

DEALER MAKES ANSWER

soaring to almost impossible figures, but which the public must buy in order to cover their nakedness, but does "Dealer" realize that clothes generally come from wool and that wool is a farm product?

And we were not discussing the feed question, although we hope to give that some attention very soon. Maybe "Dealer" forgot that feed for cattle is raised on the farm and that the general public has nothing to do with its production or its price.

He also speaks about the high cost of cows. We realize this also, as we note the many public sales that are taking place at this time, and the prices that are being paid for dairy cattle. But a point our correspondent has evidently overlooked is the fact that those who buy cows even at these advanced and extremely high prices expect to make money on them. Otherwise they could not buy. For every man who wishes to sell there is usually some one who wants to buy.

Labor is high everywhere as well as the hours of the dairy men are usually long, and it is a seven-day week job, as we also know, but our correspondent has missed the point in the controversy. We are willing to admit everything he says about the increased cost of butter, and shoes and clothes and feed, and that labor is high and that his hours are long, but he failed to answer why Charleroi is compelled to pay 18 cents a quart for milk while it is being supplied to other communities at prices ranging from 2 to 6 cents per quart less. That is the feature the people of Charleroi are interested in. Are they being discriminated against? It matters not where we buy our butter, or shoes, or our clothes; we pay the same price in other towns as we pay in Charleroi. Every customer is treated alike and must pay the same price, but the point we make and which we insist ought to be answered, is that Charleroi is compelled to pay more for milk than other towns in this section of the valley and county.

If our milk dealers can justify their position on this feature of the case we will be more than glad to print their answer. It is not a question of what other things cost; it is the price of milk in Charleroi compared with the price charged in other towns.

Corns Come Off Like Banana Peel

"Gets-It" Leaves Toe Smooth As Your Palm. Never Fails.

Ever peel off a banana skin? Well, that's the way "Gets-It" peels off any corn or callus. It's a picnic. Nothing else in the world will do it.

"2 Drops of 'Gets-It.' Goodbye Corns!" but "Gets-It" because of the new secret principle in the "Gets-It" formula. "Gets-It" does away forever with "contractions," "wraps," "plasters," ointments that rub off, blood-letting knives, and scissors that sap into the "quick." "Gets-It" saves pain. It takes but a second or two to use "Gets-It." There's no fussing or trouble. It dries immediately. You put your stocking right back on again. Your corn will come off painlessly in one complete piece. That's common-sense. It never fails. "Gets-It" the only sure, guaranteed, money-back corn-remover, costs but a trifle at any drug store. Mfd by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Charleroi and recommended as the world's best corn remedy by Frank J. John and Piper's Pharmacy.

Corp. Ed. Geho has returned to his home at North Charleroi after serving 18 months overseas with the American Expeditionary forces.

WOULD YOU LET A CHILD STARVE?

If you could see a child fall at your feet, too weak from hunger to stand erect, its great burning eyes brilliant with the fever of hunger and its little emaciated arms outstretched to you in pleading---
WHAT WOULD YOU DO?

YOU WOULD FEED IT THEN DO IT NOW

You do not see that little child, yet you can hear its plea. Its plaintive cry comes across the seas in humble supplication to you for food, lest it die of starvation. for shelter, lest it perish from the cold, for medicine, lest Pestilence claim it.

There is no argument as to the NEED. Herbert Hoover attests it—Red Cross and United States government agents confirm it—eye witnesses sent to investigate by the Jewish Relief Committees have returned heart broken and brain sick with the horrors that confronted them.

There is no argument as to the wise administration of the relief funds—every dollar obtained goes to the one end.

There remains but ONE question.

Will YOU turn away from that dying child, that starving mother, that famishing old man, and deafen your ears to his prayer.

Not in America, thank God.

HAS NO PLACE OF HONOR

Salvation Army's Work for Fifty-Four Years Recognized as Worthy of the Highest Place.

Except for the fact that the Salvation Army is a religious organization, there could be no other explanation for the number of what the army had done and is doing in a half century than the recent award of a Victoria Cross to three Salvation Army soldiers for their service in France. Fifty-four years ago things were very different; the first appearances of the Salvationists aroused opposition, riotous mobs tried to break up the meetings, and on at least one occasion members of the future army were arrested in England as "disturbers of the peace." Originally simply an attempt to make converts by outdoor preaching, the movement which William Booth started in July, 1865, was put on a military basis and became the Salvation Army in 1878, since which time it has grown from 75 corps in England to about 9,000 corps and outposts in more than 60 countries. The army was officially recognized by King Edward VII when he received the founder at Buckingham palace in 1904; a different yet remarkable "official recognition" occurred quite recently when a tableau honoring the Salvation Army was made the climax of the current "Ziegfeld Follies" on Broadway.

SUFFERED FOR OTHER'S SIN

Pathetic Story Told as an Example of the Peril That Lies in Inefficiency.

A. R. Hawley, president of the Aero club, told in New York the other day an inefficiency story.

"Beware the inefficient man," he said, "for if you have dealings with him it is you, not he, that will suffer from his inefficiency."

A foreigner in outlandish garb claiming to be an Armenian came here to solicit funds last year for his compatriots. It happened that another Armenian was arrested at the time, and the first chap was asked to go to court and act as his interpreter.

"Well, he reluctantly consented to act, though the truth was that he knew no Armenian whatever. Anyhow he stalked into the courtroom, listened in silence to the prisoner's passionate protestations of innocence, and then turned to the judge and said with a low bow:

"Your honor, my compatriot has confessed all. He begs you, however, to be lenient for suffering Armenia's sake."

"The judge thanked the interpreter warmly for his services, and then sentenced the innocent prisoner to five years' hard labor."

London Now Less Noisy

Middle-aged Londoners who went to and fro in the capital in the sixties and seventies merely smile when we ask if London could possibly be noisier than it is at the present day.

For they say it was a far noisier place then, when nearly all the main streets were granite paved and all the wheels of the vehicles iron bound. There was a continuous roar then to which the present day sound is a mere whisper.

One such Londoner says he often heard in the old days the roar of London's traffic from as far away a spot as the Crystal Palace park. The sound was like that of continual very distant thunder. He has many times in recent years listened for the sound from the same spot, but has never heard it.—London Chronicle.

Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's "familiar" proved of very practical assistance to him the other day.

The creator of "Sherlock Holmes" walked into his study, and after some indecision drifted over to the waste-paper basket, plucked his arm into the litter, and—extracted a valuable war office document relating to the history of the war! It had blown from the table into the basket.

"I've never done such a thing before," said Sir Arthur, in narrating the circumstances, and the unusual course of action which he followed with such good results he attributes wholly to the promptings of his "familiar."—London Chronicle.

Star Tuberculosis Patient

James, aged seven, is a patient at Sunnyside and came into the city for tonsillotomy. While in one of the hospitals overnight James could not sleep because he missed his sleeping porch, so he called the nurse and pleaded his case (for air).

The weather was zero and the nurse explained as much to James and thinking she had satisfied his mind she left him, but no sooner had she gone than James became restless for his old haunts and called her. Again she refused to open the window and James, who is a "star care taker," moved his mottle; he threw his shoe through the window pane.—Indianapolis News.

Chinatown Hides Joss

The transforming of Chinatown that has been in progress for a decade has finally thrust its Americanizing influences into the Chinese temple in Mott street with the result that the joss and lesser idols have been relegated to a dusty closet. For years the joss was one of the attractions of Chinatown and every well-conducted party was led before the idol that occupied a prominent position in the council hall of the temple.—New York Times.

Song That Is Deathless

William Booth, the founder of the Salvation Army, was born in New York, May 12, 1829, and his death, which occurred in London, England, in 1912, was a great loss to the world.

Booth was a Quaker and was educated at the Quaker school in New York. He was a very successful business man and was one of the leading financiers of the city. He was a very successful business man and was one of the leading financiers of the city. He was a very successful business man and was one of the leading financiers of the city.

Glimpse of the Past

An odd bit of the past turns up in a list of old publications soon to be sold at auction, namely, to give it its full imposing title, "A Sermon Preached at Whitechapel, in the Parish of St. Mary, Whitechapel, and Westminster, the Adventurers and Ministers for Virginia," and "Publisher for the Benefit and Use of the Colony Planters, and to Bee Planted There, and for the Advancement of Their Christian Purposes." Rev. William Symonds preached that sermon, noted Christian Science Monitor, and described Virginia as a land "with the fruitfulness whereof England, our mistress, can not compare, no, not when she is in her greatest pride." Yet he preached to rather a sorry congregation, says history, largely composed of immigrants who had failed at home through bad habits little calculated to help in a new country.

Preserved Health By Walking

Sir Hermann Wehler, the dozen of European physicians, who died at the age of ninety-seven, had a prescription for longevity that was extremely simple, and it possessed the additional advantage of being quite inexpensive. "Walk, walk, walk, every day," he said, "and whilst walking give the arms full play. By so doing the bones, blood, muscles, nerves and brain will be kept in a healthy activity. And never mind the weather. Take your exercise, be the day wet or fine, hot or cold! Above all, avoid sitting over a fire. Nothing is more conducive to senility." At the ripe old age of ninety-seven Sir Wehler might be seen taking exercise daily in Hyde park, covering from ten to forty miles a week. His hobby was the collection of old Greek coins and medals. He was knighted by Queen Victoria in 1899.

Quaint Lithuanian Customs

No country in Europe, it is said, has so faithfully clung to the remnants of an old culture, which is manifested everywhere in its daily routine, as Lithuania. Primitive steam bath establishments, in which the whole family took the weekly bath, are still believed necessities, and no home can be found that does not reverence its "namas," the hearth. The Lithuanians were originally fire-worshippers, and it is believed the hearth was the place at which the sacred rites of the old cult were observed. Each farm is an independent kingdom, and the "klete," in which harvests and tools are stored, is still preserved. The spinning room, in which flax, linen and wool are made into cloth for the entire household, has also been maintained.

If you will look at a geographical globe, it may surprise you to discover how little dry land there is beneath the equator. In fact, nearly all of the land of the terrestrial planet is in the northern hemisphere. The bulk of South America lies below the equator; wise about one-third of Africa, and the whole of Australia. But all the rest is north of that line, barring islands and the mass at the South pole. The world is mostly water. One per cent of the water in the oceans would cover all the land of the globe to a depth of 290 feet. Dissolved in the water of the oceans is enough salt to make 4,500,000 solid cubes each of them one mile on an edge.

Long Lawsuit

A lawsuit regarding Rhodesian mining rights, which has reached the house of lords in its fourth year is quite a legal infant when compared with some that have preceded it. The Thellusson will case, for example, dragged out in the courts from 1797 to 1857. Another similar action at law, known as the Bishop-Demetra will case, lasted 122 years. Even this, however, is not a record, says London Tit-Bits. For in 1908 there was settled at Friemar a law suit that had been in progress since 1430. The raising of a dam was the point at issue, and it occupied the courts for exactly 478 years.

Leave Their Tails Behind Them

Most of the reptiles of the Colorado are colored like their surroundings, and are difficult to detect. Others can change their colors to suit their surroundings, while not a few of the desert lizards are able to part with their tails very readily when they are seized. There is humor in the ways of desert tortoises. When one meets another—unless both are males, when a fight inevitably takes place—each nods its head rapidly up and down as though in salutation, and sometimes noses are touched as they pass.

NATIONAL HEROES OF FRANCE

Lazare Hoche and Ferdinand Foch Are Named to Be Forever Held in Grateful Memory.

Marshal Foch is taking a particular satisfaction at this time of the consummation of a great victory to pay homage to the fame of Lazare Hoche, the famous young general who escaped the Revolutionary guillotine eventually to command that army of the Sambre-et-Meuse which, though at first disorganized, badly fed and badly equipped, performed the brilliant seven months' campaign which established the reputation of French arms on both sides of the Rhine. To this day at Weissenthurm stands a monument to his memory and that of his brilliant young chief. No wonder Marshal Foch takes pleasure in recalling Lazare Hoche to his countrymen. Of Hoche it is said that he once proudly wrote to the minister for war of his day, "Je suis la patrie." The French of the present century would throw up their hats at such a sentiment as enthusiastically as the contemporaries of Hoche and Rouget de Lisle. With the great mass of them, though they do not perhaps express it so tersely, Foch is "la patrie" in the sense that he certainly stands for them as "la Victoire" personified.

High Heels Lessen Vitality

High heels prevail in spite of the promise of something wiser in build coming into popular favor. Yet, to quote a well-known doctor: "No woman pretends that she is comfortable when wearing high heels nor can she hope to be graceful when wearing them, for the body is thrown out of poise and the action of the feet is restricted. More serious than her awkwardness is the eventual injury to her health. For in the effort to preserve her equilibrium the shoulders are thrown forward, depressing the chest; breathing is interfered with, and that means poorer blood and a final decrease in vitality. This comes gradually, but it is inevitable when a woman persists in wearing very high heels. Her heels should conform to the arch if her instep."—Exchange.

An Interesting Suggestion Has Been Made

By a prominent Swiss meteorologist and physicist, M. de Quervain of Zurich, to the effect that the vast stores of munitions collected in the belligerent countries during the last four years be utilized to advance the cause of science instead of being merely fired off to make a Roman holiday, or else sunk in deep waters to avoid the latent dangers which reside in them. By detonating these explosives in definite quantities, at definite places, and at definite times whose dates are announced in advance, a possibility would be presented for the solution of many interesting problems in physics and meteorology. The project might advantageously be carried out in this country.

Cryptic Cable

For smartness the following will be hard to beat: "A well-known personage in Devonshire, England, received a cable from his soldier son in Mesopotamia containing only three words: 'Two John twelves.' After much puzzling the meaning dawned upon him. Taking down his Bible he turned up the Second Epistle of St. John and read the twelfth verse, which runs as follows: 'Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with paper and ink, but I trust to come unto you and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.' His son was on his way home to England."

Bridegroom Grows in Importance

The war has given the bridegroom a significance he never before possessed. Formerly wedding notices were devoted to the bride, her trousseau, her bridesmaids and her family. The bridegroom was mentioned only incidentally, if at all. By reason of his rank, he has become one of the most important persons in the alliance.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

An Electric Railway That Is Different

THE WEST PENN system railway lines operate largely over a private right of way thereby saving large sums in maintenance and operating costs and having less paying and fewer accidents, and damage claims. For these reasons, its expenses are materially reduced from those of a large city traction system.

THE WEST PENN system railway lines do not have large morning and evening rush periods such as city railways do which necessitates their carrying heavy investments in cars that are used only a few hours a day. The number of passengers carried by the West Penn cars per hour is more uniform therefor its earnings are more, for the amount invested, than those of a city railway.

THE WEST PENN for these reasons has been able to pay interest on its bonds and dividends on its stock though some large city lines are not able to pay interest on their mortgage bonds.

THE WEST PENN will continue to pay its obligations when due as it has proven its ability to do so. The 6 per cent preferred stock of West Penn Railways Company is a sound, safe and sure investment.

This Stock is now being So'd at $82.00 per Share yielding 7.32 per cent on the money invested.

Life for Those in the Shadow of Death Jewish War Relief

FROM over the sea comes the call from 6,000,000 old men, women and little children who today look to America to save them from death. Millions are destitute. The American Red Cross investigator and other relief agencies show that in Poland hardly a child under five years old remains alive. There are no able-bodied young men--no strong young women. The old, the maimed, the emancipated children (more than 800,000 of these) are entirely dependent on America.

Deprived of the means of self-support, they must have our help or die. The appeal goes out over America--men, women and children are starving. History does not record where any suffering people appealed to America in vain. This is called and every dollar given will be distributed by these thoroughly organized charities so that not one single dollar shall go astray. Even the expense connected with the campaign is paid by wealthy charitable people. In these stricken districts of Poland, Lithuania, Russia, Palestine, Galacia, Turkey, Syria, Romania, Greece and Bulgaria these funds will be used to relieve the needy no matter what may be their race or creed. God works in mysterious ways in presenting the appeals of humanity and this appeal comes to you and to me and to all, everywhere. Now is the time to reject the cry of the destitute and starving or hear the appeal and pledge your support. God will surely bless every dollar sent to these helpless souls in the hour of their diversity, and God will doubly bless you, the giver in this worthy cause. Let our people respond to the appeal, let us still say to the world that Charleroi, too, was never appealed to in vain. "Cast your bread upon the waters and it will return to you after many days." The workers may get tired and discouraged but we plead with you to help carry the load.

FINE RECORD OF CHARLEROI HIGH

The Charleroi High school has possibly as good if not a better record than any other high school in this section of the valley in the way of graduates taking advanced work after completing the course in the local institution. At the present time there are twenty-two graduates of the Charleroi High enrolled as students at the University of Pittsburgh, while there is a total of fifty-two graduates who are taking College work, certainly a remarkable record when the size of the local High is considered. Twenty-two members of the present school faculty are graduates of the local High, all of whom took advanced or Normal work before beginning to teach, while many of the commercial graduates are now holding responsible positions in many of the towns in this part of the valley. The splendid work of the Charleroi High is reflected in the large number of students who are pursuing advanced studies, as well as in the large number who after completing the local course, prepared themselves for useful work by entering other and advanced schools to finish their training.

Prohibition was expected to bring on a millennium of loveliness of all sorts, yet turbulent strikes, race riots, "crime waves" and all manner of afflictions are multiplying as never before.
